GAVE CONVENTION REPORT Was First Baptist Delegate to State Sunday School Convention.

At the Sunday school session at the First Baptist church Earle Williams Stamm, who represented the school at the state convention held recently at Stamford, gave an interesting report, including a condensed report of several of the most important addresses. The theme of the convention was Character Building. Dr. Wade Crawford Barciay in his address upon Basic Principles of Graded Work said: In the graded lessons we seek to know the child. The motto, Come, let us live with our children and be children together. Through our play and association with him we have come to know him. Even the child has a spark of religious life, We used to think we had to bring religion to the child, and what we must do is to care for him in order to draw it out into tangible form. We cannot expect to have a boy have his grandfather's religion; give him a childhood religion. More time is being spent on childhood so that a whole life may be spent in the master's kingdom.

Robert Darling, president of the association, spoke upon Builders and Building, saying: We must build Christian character into the lives of those we serve. Building Christian character into the lives of those we serve. Building Christian character into the work unless someone else before him has done his particular work, which is wholly different from the work of him who brings out the finished object. Christian character trained for service is the greatest thing in the world. Impress the need of trained officers, eral of the most important addresses.

It is the duts of every pastor to take more than a lively interest in the doings of his Sunday school and to constantly on the alert to further the great purpose of the school—the instilling of knowledge of religion into the hearts and minds of the young children. It is often a temptation to leave the work of the Sunday school to the superintendent and the teachers. In a sense this is all very well, if the school is being carried along successfully, but he pointed out the feelings that shad always come over such a bed. fully, but he pointed out the feelings that always come over such a body of children when their minister, whom they are taught to look up to, is present in the study room. There was no more important work for the pastor of any church than the work of starting the young boys and girls on the right path in life.

Wallace I. Woodin in his address upon Standards of Efficiency said: Efficiency is a quality of producing results. Standard is a test of our methods. The aim of our Sunday schools of life.

2—The child is affected by everything he comes in contact with. The religion of the Sunday school is not the only place he receives religious training. He is receiving it every day, either religiously or irreligiously.

3—It is the task of the church to go out into all the byways of the world and see that they are cleaneed. Their work does not consist of 30 minutes work a week.

4—We must develop capacity of the child to love God and to depend upon God for suidance. Make the element of worship a real part of our Sunday school. 5. The child needs more than any-hing else a friend, a healer, the sym-

THANKSGIVING LINENS

Linens in spite of the war—they're good Linens, too—as good as the markets of the world will afford. Irish Linens lead, for there is something different in the air and climate of the Emerald Isle which produces a linen superior in quality and finish. Ireland, too, has been making linens for many years and they have a linen tradition to sustain-Irish Linens must best-so they are best. In our Linen Department we are now displaying the new Thanksgiving Linens. We can interest you in both quality and price.

WINTER WEIGHTS

"The time has come, the walrus said, to talk of many things," but what the walrus, in Wonderland, said to Alice was of a nautical nature—what we want to talk about particularly concerns warmth and comfort in the Winter time, and the topics falling under that head are many. There are a host of dainty fabrics in cotton or wool or in combination of both, which are specially adapted for Winter use, and in price they are remarkably low for such fine qualities.

"BEACON" EIDERDOWN FLANNEL 33c a Yard

This is the famous Bath Robe Flannel. It is all cotton but possesses an inimitable wool finish and is to be had in the widest range of colorings and patterns. It is 28 inches wide, double faced, and the colors are fast. If you are going to make a robe for Christmas now is the time to buy.

SCOTCH WOOL FLANNELS 39c a Yard

Scotch Flannel occupies a place which can be taken by no other. Wherever a wool-flannel is demanded at a modest price you will find that Scotch leads them all. We have it in neat waisting designs and pretty colorings.

VIYELLA FLANNEL The Non-shrinkable Wool Flannel 68c a Yard

It is hard to describe the daintiness of this pretty fabric or to enumerate the many uses for which it is the best. It, positively, will not shrink, and the colors are fast. For women's waists, men's shirts, for infants and children, for day wear and for night wear, it has no equal.

OUTING FLANNEL SKIRTS

25c — 50c — 75c You might as well be comfortable, and you know a little protection certainly prevents suffering. These Pink, Blue and White Skirts in assorted patterns will keep you warm and they cost but little. OUTING FLANNEL 10c A YARD

There are cheaper flannels on the market-there are so-called 10c flannels offered for prices less than this; but when you have seen the quality, the designs and the colorings of this flannel we know what your choice will be. It is 27 inches wide and in a wide color and style range.

OUTING FLANNEL 121/2c A YARD

This is an extra heavy weight Flannel which we can recommend in every way. It is honestly made, the colors are fast, and there is a good selection of solid colors and new designs. This is a flannel for those who appreciate the best.

DUCKLING FLEECE 15c A YARD

It was produced by a thoughtful manufacturer especially for kimonae, sacques and for children's use, the designs being particularly suited for the purposes. It is 27 inches wide, stripes and floral designs predominate and the colors are fast.

ROYAL FLANNEL FOR BATH ROBES, 25c A YARD The lowest price for which you can secure a flannel which is made for the particular purpose. It is 27 inches wide and there is a fine assortment of two and three color designs as well as a number of handsome Indian patterns. It is a double faced fabric and the colors are fast.

OLD-FASHIONED WOOL CHALLIES 59c A YARD Challie is old-fashioned-just enough so to be strictly in style, and it's might nice for house wear in the cold weather. It is 28 inches wide and the designs are new and pretty.

FOR 312 WEEKS Decision by Commissioner Donohue in

J. Donohue, for the purpose of determining who was the dependent of the deceased who was employed by the Aspinook Co., of Jewett City, the commissioner has rendered a finding in which he decided that Mrs. Brzzostek is the dependent of her husband and the commissioner directs the Aspinook Co., shall pay to her at her address in Jewett City, or at such address as shall pay to a such address as shall pa pinook Co., shall pay to her at her address in Jewett City, or at such ad-dress as she shall from time to time furnish, compensation at the rate of $5 per week from Oct. 30, 1915, pay ments to be made monthly, for the period of three hundred and twelve weeks (312), subject to such modifiweeks (212), subject to such modifi-cation by way of a supplemental award as may be proper and neces-sary in case of her death or re-mar-riage; also that the respondent shall pay burial expenses to the amount of one hundred dollars ($100).

Through this hearing and decision the expense of appointing an admin-istrator of the estate is saved.

Commissioner Donohue says in his finding,

The employe, Alex Brzzostek, now deceased, was on the 25th day of October, 1915, and for some time prior thereto had been, in the employ of the respondent at Jewett City, and on said 25th day of October, 1915, received an inuity arising out of and in the course of his employment, from which injury he died on the 20th day of October, 1915. The injury was caused as follows: In putting cloth on mandrill, employe's left hand was caught between mandrill and cylinder and lacerated from ittle finger to elbow, blood poisoning resulting and beand lacerated from little finger to elbow, blood poisoning resulting and being the cause of his death.

Both said Alex Brzzostek and the respondent had accepted the provisions of Part B of Chapter 138 of the Public Acts of 1913 as amended, and the employer had compiled with the provisions of Section 30 of Part B by insuring full liability with a company authorized to take such risks in the State of Connecticut.

The average wage of the deceased

The average wage of the deceased employe, computed in accordance with the terms of the act, was $7.54 per week.

The claimant, Mary Brzzostek, is the widow of said Alex Brrzostek, the employe, and lived with him and received support from him during his lifetime.

The deceased left surviving him, besides the widow as named above, four children: John (married) aged 23; Peter, 12; Frank, 10; and Alex,7, the last three being now in Russia.

It is found that the claimant, Mary Brzzostek, is the dependent of said Alex Brzzostek.

The respondent has assumed the medical and other similar expenses under Section 7 of Part B of the act.

WORTH OF A MAN? unable to attend are asked to send their proxies, as it is intended to take up important questions concerning the Y. M. C. A. General Secretary Was policies of the chamber for the coming Speaker at Shop Talk.

General Secretary Edwin Hill of the Y. M. C. A. delivered the shop talk at the Cutlery plant in Thamesville Tuesday at noon, in place of the regular speaker, Rev. Joel B. Slocum, who was out of town.

Secretary Hill spoke on The Value of a Men saving in the state finances will be discussed, and State Treasurer Frederick S. Chamberlin and State Tax Commissioner William H. Corbin have accepted invitations to attend and address the session.

Secretary Hill spoke on The Value of a Man, saying in part: Every man in this world is needed to carry on the world's work, and if one fails in his dity the world is the poorer. If he fulfills his obligations the world is richer. The size of is pocketbook is the common standard of the value of a man. Hence comes the common saying, the rich man is worth more than the poor man.

Again, men are valued according to their positions. The president, a capter of the resident market today are up to $1.15 a bushel, their positions. The president, a cap-tain, a famous man, are called great men, in contrast with the common of year of 85 or 90 cents. men, in contrast with the common man. The real value of a man, how-ever, is found outside of his economic man. The real value of a man, however, is found outside of his economic value. It lies in a different sphere.

The man of all men who dignified all honest toil said: "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." In other words, the value of a man does not depend upon what he can earn or what he has, but rather in the kind of life he lives; what he is to his neighbor and friends, to his family; the kind of husband and father he is; whether or not he is a true son to his parents.

The value of a true man to the community is great, and if all men were true in this relationship our town would be a purer town. Then every man is of tremendous value to God because of the fact tifat in the mind of the eternal there is a definite plan for every life, and it is up to every man to find out what tifat plan is and to live according to it. God has invested his life in every man; is his investment a failure or a success in your life? The key to our success is found in Jesus Christ, who is the sympathetic friend of every man, be he capitalist or common laborer. We all need him, and lives would be of little value without him.
